Dear Youth INC Community,

Each of us who supports Youth INC’s work reaffirms its vital purpose: to put all New York City kids on a path to long-term success. I am extremely proud to be a part of an organization that is investing in our collective future.

As the bridge between the business community and the social impact sector, Youth INC is creating a bold, actionable vision in which all New York City youth have access to opportunity. We pursue and execute on this vision with our 80+ nonprofit partners spread throughout the Bronx, Brooklyn, Manhattan, Queens, and Staten Island.

2018 was a momentous year filled with successes that would not have been possible to achieve without your support. I joined the Youth INC family eight years ago, served as co-chair for four, and continue to be astonished by our dedicated supporters and friends. As I move on to our National Advisory Board next year, I remain committed as ever to bringing much-needed resources to under-resourced communities.

Next year will mark the 25th anniversary of our experiment in upending the youth development status quo. The success of our model is allowing us to scale our programmatic offerings and reach more youth than ever before. We provide nonprofits with the resources and connections they need to become operationally sustainable but also with tools to assess their impact and bolster the programs they bring to our youth.

In the coming year, Youth INC will continue to create lasting impact across New York City. We thank you, our many supporters, for investing in us and our mission.

With gratitude,

John

JOHN WALDRON
A MESSAGE FROM REHANA FARRELL

Dear Youth INC Community,

Youth INC accelerates the most promising youth-focused organizations across New York City. In 2018, our 80 nonprofit partners delivered high-caliber programming to more than 200,000 young people. Our partners provide access to opportunity for kids to develop the skills and confidence needed to succeed in life.

Graduation rates are important measures of success. However, they are a lagging indicator. Youth INC measures what matters—the leading indicator of future success.

We help our partners MEASURE the impact of their programs on the young people they serve. Providing grassroots nonprofits with data is revolutionary! We then go further and use predictive analytics to coach our partners on how to MAXIMIZE their impact on building the character of the youth they serve.

Youth INC is setting the standard for youth development and helping our nonprofits achieve it. We also continue to coach our partners on exemplary practices in fundraising and governance to help them achieve sustainable growth. Thriving nonprofit organizations means more thriving youth!

We all share a common belief that we must take action to improve the lives of young people in NYC by empowering the nonprofits that serve them. We believe that your zip code should not determine your destiny. Fueled by your support, Youth INC is DOING something about it.

In 2018, the gift of your time, energy, and caring brought us closer to our shared vision. Together, we are reshaping the future of youth development and leveling the playing field for all NYC kids. We look forward to our continued partnership.

In partnership,

Rehana

MEASURING WHAT MATTERS

The Aspen Institute’s National Commission on Social, Emotional and Academic Development formed a Council of Distinguished Scientists comprised of 28 leading scholars who unanimously confirmed the interconnectedness of social and emotional development as central to the learning process.¹

Social and emotional learning (SEL) refers to the process through which individuals learn and apply a set of social, emotional, behavioral, and character skills required to succeed in school, the workplace, relationships, and citizenship.²

Why does SEL matter?

Investments in SEL produce an 11-point gain in grades and test scores and an 11x return for every $1 invested!³

MAXIMIZING IMPACT

Youth INC measures the SEL growth of the young people served by our nonprofit partners and coaches them on how to maximize SEL gains using evidence-based best practices.

The result? 83% of our youth surveyed demonstrated significant growth in three or more SEL competencies proven to drive success in school, work and life.

Democratizing access to data for nonprofits is revolutionary. Youth INC is setting the standard in youth development and coaching our nonprofit partners to achieve excellence.

Why does it matter? Our future success requires it!

“SEL will prepare today’s students for this evolving workplace, with consequent benefits for individuals, businesses, the economy and society.”

“The best employee teams show ‘a range of soft skills.’ Among those were equality, generosity, curiosity toward the ideas of your teammates, empathy, and emotional intelligence.”

“The hyperconnected global economy has driven today’s business environment into a complex system that requires leaders to adopt new practices that are grounded in SEL, including: Catalyzing (social influence), Engaging (relationships), Sensemaking (creativity, intuition & logic) and Grounding (personal values).”

— David Peterson, PhD, Executive Director, Institute For Contemporary Leadership & Google Executive Development, and Beth Gullette, PhD, Chief People Officer, Well & Executive Board Member, Institute for Contemporary Leadership
“Young people across New York City face challenges that too often prevent them from reaching their full potential. Youth INC has a proven track record of identifying and accelerating the best organizations serving youth in the city. I Co-Chair the Youth INC Board because I know our nonprofit partners are providing the access to opportunity that all kids deserve.”

Youth INC partnered with Bobby Grubert to launch RBC Trade For the Kids on June 11, 2015. This event has grown from just the RBC Equities team raising $1M for Youth INC to a global event uniting RBC Capital Markets worldwide and raising over $3M to benefit more than 40 youth-focused charities! Bobby is living proof that one person can make a difference in the lives of thousands of others. He is a shining example of the incredible culture of volunteerism and community service at RBC.

Bobby Grubert is Co-Head of Global Equities. In this role, Mr. Grubert has global accountability for all equity related product capabilities including sales and trading, origination, new issue distribution, risk management, electronic trading and research. He is a member of the firm’s operating committee as well as its U.S. operating committee.

Mr. Grubert began his career as an energy trader with Rauscher Pierce Refsnes, based in Dallas in 1996. Following the merger with Dain Rauscher, Mr. Grubert moved to Minneapolis to grow the NYSE Listed business. After RBC acquired Dain Rauscher Wessels 2001, Mr. Grubert transferred to New York, and was appointed Head of U.S. trading in 2007. He became Head of U.S. Equities in 2008, adding responsibility for global electronic trading in 2009 and he assumed responsibility of Cash Equities in Europe in 2014. In 2018 he was appointed Co-Head of Global Equities.
